I have a neighbor who puts parking cones up in front of his house and in front of the neighbors homes so that he can keep the parking spaces, and the whole street is trying to find places to park, but it’s near impossible. He puts his cones up and then parks in front of other's homes, not where he puts his cones. My question is, is it legal to put parking cones up on public street to save your spots? We all need a place to park but this guy makes it near impossible. It's starting to cause a lot of attention in the neighborhood Any insight would be greatly appreciated!! SER0107682	Service Request - Building InquiriesSER0107682	My neighbor just poured a new concrete pad driveway and walkway immediately adjacent to my property. Prior to the work I brought to his attention multiple times that he must correct the lack of drainage system that leads to runoff onto my property, including a broken downspout. I also spoke three times to the contractor's project lead. We discussed a few ways to prevent drainage onto my property, and I thought that the issue would be addressed appropriately. I had a planned vacation and was unable to be here to monitor the rest of the project, which was just being formed up when I left town. When I returned, I was shocked to discover that no runoff prevention design had been employed and even the broken downspout was still there. My understanding is that property owners must prevent their runoff from entering neighboring properties.	1495 McKinley Dr, Reno, NV 89509	Closed	Code Enforcement	2025-10-25 09:53:26

SER0108027	Service Request - Homeless ConcernsSER0108027	Hello Reno Fire Department Here is a link to the pictures & video of the people having a small BBQ-type fire in the drainage ditch next to the Republic Apartments, next tto he railroad tracks, across the street from UNR. I think when I called it in last night, they may have seen me and put their little fire out. You must have just missed them. Now that it is daylight, it is clear there is a small homeless camp located at the same spot as last night's BBQ. I hope they do not return to start another BBQ, as the entire drainage ditch is filled with dry brush. Most Kindly, Gerardo	1550 Evans Ave, Reno, NV 89512	Open	Code Enforcement	2025-10-28 18:57:59

SER0108031	Service Request - Debris on Private PropertySER0108031	This is a Walmart store property.There is a large amount of trash and debris located in the grassy area on the McCarran side of the store. It looks like a bunch of homeless people live or lived there. It also appears it could be a dangerous, unsafe area to clean, a significant amount of debris, trash, blankets glass, etc. Is out there. I fear there could be drug use happening in this area as well. Why on earth would Walmart allow such a horrible situation to occur on their property? Ive seen debris here before, someone must have complained as it was cleared. Does the city not check on repeat offenders? This seems very unsafe, unhealthy and unsanitary. Please have a serious discussion with Walmart management about this. Thank you.	5260 West 7Th Street, Reno, NV 89523	Closed	Code Enforcement	2025-10-28 21:02:41

SER0108256	Service Request - Nuisance, Not Otherwise ListedSER0108256	We are experiencing repeated and targeted reports to Reno Parking Services about our legally parked and registered vehicle in front of our home. Parking Enforcement officers confirmed that multiple calls have been made specifically about our van, despite it being in full compliance with city parking regulations. These calls appear to be retaliatory and connected to individuals previously cited in a now-closed nuisance case involving Legacy Arms Apartments (133 Mt. Rose Street). The same retaliatory behavior occurred earlier this year, around April–May 2025, after we first reported similar nuisance activity to the City and Legacy Arms management. We will also be filing a harassment report with the Reno Police Department to ensure this activity is formally documented and addressed, as it appears to meet the definition of retaliatory harassment under NRS 200.571 or disturbing the peace under Reno Municipal Code 8.12.015. We are requesting that this situation be documented, that the matter be reviewed in coordination with Parking Services, and that guidance be provided on how to prevent further harassment or misuse of City reporting systems against residents who have previously cooperated with Code Enforcement.
