Market Summary

Economic Highlights

- ▶ Inflation, as measured by the month-over-month change in the consumer price index (CPI), was 0.3% in January, and 3.1% on a year-over-year basis, coming in higher than expected. Shelter contributed over two thirds of the monthly all items increase. Meanwhile, core CPI (which excludes food and energy) came in at 3.9%, the same increase for the twelve months ended December 2023. December's core CPI reading of 3.9% marked the first time since 2021 that core CPI came in below 4%.
- ▶ The labor market remains as strong as ever and is a gusty tailwind to the outlook for consumers. Monthly job growth wowed again in February as 353,000 jobs were added on the heels of January's gains of 333,000. These were the largest monthly gains in over a year. Wage growth remains robust and has now outpaced headline CPI for eight consecutive months, while the unemployment rate of 3.7% remains near all-time lows.
- ▶ Initial estimates suggest that real gross domestic product (GDP) increased at an annual rate of 3.3% in the fourth quarter of 2023, firmly besting estimates of 2.0%. Consumer spending continued to lead the way as the fourth quarter reading of 2.8% only modestly trailed third quarter's torrid 3.1% pace.
- ▶ The Federal Reserve (Fed) kept the overnight target rate unchanged at its current range of 5.25% to 5.50% at the conclusion of its meeting on January 31 and continued to push back on market expectations that a rate cut was imminent. In the post-meeting press conference, Chair Jerome Powell once again noted the importance of incoming data for policy decisions and balancing the risks of cutting the overnight rate too soon.

Market Reaction

- ▶ The U.S. Treasury yield curve steepened over the month as maturities inside 10 years ended January modestly lower. 10- and 30-year U.S. Treasury maturities moved higher as the longer-term economic outlook and expectations for Fed balance sheet reductions firmed. The benchmark 2-, 5- and 10-year U.S. Treasuries finished the month at 4.21%, 3.84% and 3.91%, changing by -4, -1 and +3 basis points for the month, respectively.
- ▶ The ICE BofA 2-, 5- and 10-year Treasury indices returned 1.12%, 2.30% and 4.04%, respectively, for the month as the benefits of higher income on fixed income securities buoyed total returns.
- ▶ Equity markets maintained momentum from Q4 through January as the S&P 500 Index and Dow Jones Industrial Average both hit new all-time highs, increasing by 1.7% and 1.3% for the month, respectively.
